

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

CATONSVILLE HOMES GLITTERED ITS WAY TO THE MAX

(Baltimore, MD, April 27, 2006) Local homebuilder, Catonsville Homes, had much to celebrate at the 2005 Maryland Award of Excellence (MAX) ceremony, winning two coveted awards for custom homes.

Over 1,000 people watched The Sales and Marketing Council of the Home Builders Association of Maryland honor Catonsville Homes for winning “Large Volume Builder for Custom Homes Priced from $600,000- $749,900,” recognizing the Charleston II at Patapsco Park Estates. The homebuilder also took home the award for “Large Volume Builder for Custom Homes Priced from $450,000- $599,999,” spotlighting a custom, private residence in Catonsville. The MAX Awards recognize companies within the region who have set new standards for design and value among the real estate industry.

“Our team is excited about winning two Awards of Excellence at this year’s MAX awards. The honors display our continued commitment to the customer and our ability to listen to the customers’ wants and needs,” said Steve Edmondson, Vice President and Director of Marketing for Catonsville Homes.
